Dr Karen Le Ball - Workshop Organiser

NHS Highland Clinical Ethics Committee

Dr Karen Le Ball graduated from University College Medical School and subsequently trained in general and geriatric medicine in Essex and London. Karen has been a consultant geriatrician in South East London (now South London Healthcare Trust) for 16 years. Karen completed a Masters Degree in Medical Ethics and Law at Kings College London and has been chair of the British Geriatrics Society Special Interest Group in Medical Ethics.

She is currently trustee and treasurer of the UK Clinical Ethics Network and founder and chair of the local clinical ethics committee. Karen also plays an important role in medical education and is particularly interested in developing generic skills in healthcare professionals.

She is Deputy Head of School for Medicine and Medical Specialties at the London Deanery.

Dr Robert Peel - Speaker

NHS Highland Clinical Ethics Committee Chair and Consultant Renal Physician, Raigmore Hospital, Inverness

Dr Robert Peel graduated from St George’s Hospital Medical School and undertook house jobs in London and Fort William. As an SHO in Edinburgh, Robert became interested in Renal Medicine and did specialist Renal training in Oxford and Yorkshire. Robert was appointed to NHS Highland in 2004 and has built up a department from single handed specialist to four specialist Renal Physicians covering NHS Highland and the Western Isles - an area of more than 35,000 square kilometres.
